A Squash and a Squeeze

MACMILLAN CHILDREN'S BOOKS

A little old lady lived all by herself
With a table and chairs and a jug on the shelf.

A wise old man heard her grumble and grouse,
“There’s not enough room in my house.
Wise old man, won’t you help me, please?
My house is a squash and a squeeze.”

“Take in your hen,” said the wise old man.

“Take in my hen? What a curious plan.”

Well, the hen laid an egg on the fireside rug,

And flapped round the room knocking over the jug.

The little old lady cried, "What shall I do?
It was poky for one and it's tiny for two.
My nose has a tickle and there's no room to sneeze.
My house is a squash and a squeeze."

And she said, "Wise old man,
won't you help me, please?
My house is a squash and a squeeze."

“Take in your goat,” said the wise old man.

“Take in my goat? What a curious plan.”

Well, the goat chewed the curtains and trod on the egg, then sat down to nibble the table leg.

The little old lady cried, "Glory be!
It was tiny for two and it's titchy for three.
The hen pecks the goat and the goat's got fleas.
My house is a squash and a squeeze."

And she said, "Wise old man,
won't you help me, please?
My house is a squash and a squeeze."

“Take in your pig,” said the wise old man.

“Take in my pig? What a curious plan.”

So she took in her pig who kept chasing the hen,

And raiding the larder again and again.

The little old lady cried, "Stop, I implore!
It was titchy for three and it's teeny for four.
Even the pig in the larder agrees,
My house is a squash and a squeeze."

And she said, "Wise old man,
won't you help me, please?
My house is a squash and a squeeze."

“Take in your cow,” said the wise old man.

“Take in my cow? What a curious plan.”

Well, the cow took one look and charged straight at the pig,
Then jumped on the table and tapped out a jig.

The little old lady cried, "Heavens alive!
It was teeny for four and it's weeny for five.
I'm tearing my hair out, I'm down on my knees.
My house is a squash and a squeeze."

And she said, "Wise old man,
won't you help me, please?
My house is a squash and a squeeze."

“Take them all out,” said the wise old man.
“But then I’ll be back where I first began.”

So she opened the window and out flew the hen.
“That’s better – at last I can sneeze again.”

She shooed out the goat and she shoved out the pig.
“My house is beginning to feel pretty big.”

She huffed and she puffed and she pushed out the cow.
“Just look at my house, it’s enormous now.”

“Thank you, old man, for the work you have done.
It was weeny for five, it’s gigantic for one.
There’s no need to grumble and there’s no need to grouse.
There’s plenty of room in my house.”

And now she's full of frolics and fiddle-de-dees.
It isn't a squash and it isn't a squeeze.

Yes, she's full of frolics and fiddle-de-dees.
It isn't a squash or a squeeze.

*"Wise old man, won't you help me, please?
My house is a squash and a squeeze."*

The little old lady is not happy – her house is too small, even for one. Whatever can she do? The wise old man knows.

But how will filling her home with noisy animals help?

"My readers collapsed in heaps, and then had to have it read again.

And again." Vivian French Guardian
